

Have you ever wondered why focus and productivity comes so easy for some people? Do you ever wish you could perform at a higher level? Have you ever gotten stuck dreaming about accomplishing your goals instead of actually doing your goals?

If you answered YES to any of these questions, you're in the right place! Our speaker today is the president of LiveItForward.com and author of Who Wants To Be Normal Anyway. He is head-over-heels in love with his wife, Kathy, and totally knows he married up. He is a big Georgia Tech football fan even though they don't win too often. And you might have seen him on the Late Night Show with Jimmy Fallon..... one night in September the cameras panned the audience when he was sitting in the upper corner of the balcony.

Helping us move from DREAM to DO in our life and work, please welcome to the stage from Atlanta, Georgia... speaker, fish-taco lover, and a man who is very comfortable with his shiny bald head.....
